

Project Seasons Workshops
For Farmers and Non-Formal Educators

Fee: $150 per workshop (includes all materials, meals, and one overnight stay at Shelburne Farms).

Information: Amy Watmough, 802-985-8686 x25, awatmough@shelburnefams.org

Discover exciting, hands-on ways to develop agricultural education programs for school groups and bring farming to the classroom with easy-to-use activities from PROJECT SEASONS. Focusing on agricultural and environmental topics, workshops are designed to cultivate an ethic of stewardship and an appreciation of agriculture in students.

Milk and More: Making Dairy Discoveries around the Farm
October 22-23 Sunday –Monday

So many dairy products are important to our daily lives. Milk, cheese, leather and butter are only a few of the fabulous goods we get from our bovine friends. From goats to sheep to cows, we will explore fun and exciting ways to introduce students to a dairy farm. Participants will explore the world of dairy while visiting our dairy herd, and discover resources including hands-on activities, songs, exhibit ideas and more to integrate dairy based education into your farm. During this season of harvest, we'll delve into the world of dairy from milk to cheese!

To register contact Julia Hammond at 802-985-8686 ext. 41 or at jhammond@shelburnefarms.org